

Translation Project Management

Do you have translation projects that require multiple language translation, editing, localization, or networking tasks? Turkish Word's resources, staff, and experience are at your service to coordinate all types of translation projects, regardless of the size, the number of languages involved or nature of the project. We put emphasis on the planning stage of all translation projects in order to increase their efficiency, effectiveness, and success. Our project management cycle covers conceptualization, planning, preparation, implementation, monitoring and the final evaluation phases. We look carefully at the subject matter, identify priorities and consider possible strategies. We then develop a budget and prepare a draft project plan. We present the project proposal to the client, solicit their feedback and, with their approval, begin to implement the project. The whole process is monitored continually to guarantee the best possible results. Please contact us for your Translation Project Management needs.
